

Hands On Heritage Camp

For kids ages 11-13

Explore Delaware History

July 9-13, 2007

Hey kids!

YOU HAVE FIVE DAYS THIS SUMMER TO SAVE DELAWARE
HISTORY!

Shipwrecks, trials, archeology, plantations, and more

This summer the Delaware Heritage Commission will join forces with Delaware's Museums and Historic Sites throughout the First State to offer a week of Saving Delaware History for campers ages 11-13.

This is a five day mission should you choose to accept it. Once complete, and Delaware History is safe, you will be rewarded! Come along with us for all of the intrigue, suspense and fun of Saving Delaware History!

Bus transportation is provided along with a daily snack. Full and partial scholarships will be available.

A Day in Dover

SEE Page 2 for DETAILS...

It's wash day at the Dickinson Plantation

The Details:

MONDAY, JULY 9

- Visit the New Castle Courthouse and Old New Castle

Take part in a real trial from Delaware's past. Be the accused, the judge, the jury or a witness. Take a tour of Old New Castle. Experience the scavenger hunt through cemeteries, streets and Battery Park.

TUESDAY, JULY 10

- John Dickinson Plantation

Tour the home and farm of one of the nation's founding fathers; experience colonial life of farmer, slave, and country gentleman.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 11

- The First State Heritage Park at Dover

Visit the only park without boundaries! Experience fun activities at numerous historic sites around town.

THURSDAY, JULY 12

- Zwaanendael Museum and the Roosevelt Inlet Shipwreck

What's down there? It's up to you to find out. Learn about our state's maritime history and search the beach for shipwreck clues. You may even find an artifact or two!

FRIDAY, JULY 13

- A Day in Dover

It's Friday the 13th in Dover. Can you solve the chocolate Murders? See how many museums and how much history you can save in our state capital in one afternoon. Do archeology, go back in time to live "small town life."

Be rewarded for Saving Delaware History. It's a surprise!
